DETAILED ACTION

1. This Office Action is responsive to the Amendment filed on 12/21/07.

Accordingly, claims 13-15, 17-19, 21-25, 27-31 and 34-39 are currently pending; and claims 1-12, 16, 20, 26, 32 and 33 are canceled.

Claim Rejections – 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 29 and 31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lindholm (EP 1091540), previously cited.

-Regarding claim 29, see figures 2-4, 10-12, and page 3, lines 19-48, page 4, line 51 to page 6, line 2), Lindholm discloses an exchangeable cover part (21 or 22) (see figures 3 and 4) for releasable attachment to a wireless communication terminal (comprising (18, 19) (see figure 2)) comprising:

electrical circuitry (20) (see figure 10) for supporting a user interface of the wireless communication terminal releasably attached to the exchangeable cover part; and an electrical connector (see (23, 25) of figure 10) for transmitting data between the electrical circuitry and the wireless communication terminal;

Lindholm does not teach that the electrical circuitry comprises a memory device containing data to be downloaded to the wireless communication terminal via the electrical connector for execution by the wireless communication terminal, as claimed.

However, storing data and retrieving it from a memory is well-known in the art. For instant, Lindholm teaches that the electrical circuitry (20) comprises a memory (36), (see figure 11), which stores retrievable information required by processor (18), (see figure 2 or 10), of the wireless communication terminal (see [0023] of page 5).

Further, in Lindholm, the processor (18) needs to receive the ID of the electrical circuit, from the electrical circuit via the electrical connector, for comparing the ID with a valid ID stored in a memory (17b) of the wireless communication terminal (see [0032–0033] of page 5).

Since Lindholm does not teach in detail how the electrical circuit obtain the ID of the electrical circuit for providing it to the processor (18) of the wireless communication terminal, it would have been obvious for one skilled in the art to implement Lindholm in such a way that the memory (36) would store the ID of the electrical circuit so that the electrical circuit could obtain the ID from the memory to provide the ID to the wireless communication terminal, via the electrical connector, for comparing the ID with the valid ID, as required and expected.

With such the implementation, Lindholm teaches that the electrical circuitry comprises a memory device (36) containing the ID of the electrical circuit as data to be downloaded to the wireless communication terminal via the electrical connector for execution by the wireless communication terminal to carry out a comparison with the valid ID, as claimed.

-Regarding claim 31, as applied to claim 29, Lindholm discloses that the electrical circuitry comprises a processor (31) (see figure 11) configured to process data contained in the memory device (see [0023] of page 5)).

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 13-15, 17-19, 21-25, 27-28 and 34-39 are allowed.
5. Claim 30 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed on 12/21/07 have been fully considered.

As results, claims 13-15, 17-19, 21-25, 27-28, 30 and 34-39 are indicated allowable. However, claims 29 and 31 are deemed not allowable because of reasons set forth above in this Office Action.

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
